SUNDAY laſt arrived here the ſhip Falls, Capt. Henry, in eight weeks from Belfaſt, with about 90 paſſengers, natives of the north of Ireland, who are for the preſent lodged in the new barracks: Several of them are able young men, and ready to enter into the ſervice of any gentlemen who are by law obliged to have one white perſon to every ten ſlaves on their plantations; the due obſervance of which law, we are told, is intended to be enforced, very ſhon, by upwards of fifty informations.

The ſhip Lion, Capt. Edgar, with about 200 more of theſe paſſengers, was to ſail a few days after Capt. Henry.

On monday the independent company being duty here, was diſbanded, when about 35 of the ſoldiers were entered into the Royal American regiment. The two other companies, who are doing duty in the remote parts of this province, and in Georgia, will alſo be diſbanded as ſoon as poſſible.

The back ſettlers on both ſides of Savannah River, have been exceedingly alarmed all the way to Auguſta, with the accounts of the murders committed the 24th paſt at Long-Canes; few as yet think themſelves ſafe, except in forts; and a great number of plantations are deſerted, and will continue ſo, till there is news from the Creek nation more ſatisfactory than has yet been received.—Mr. Galphin, who is a great favourite with moſt of the Creeks, writes, that when he firſt received the news, and ſaw the terror the inhabitants were in, he went out on the Indian path for intelligence, and within the diſtance of twenty miles met with ſeveral camps of Creek men, women and children; that they all ſeemed as much aſtoniſhed as himſelf at what had happened, and could give him no account whatever of the murders; but he afterwards ſent off a man to go further, who, when he had gone on about 50 miles, met with Togulki (the Young Twin) returning to Silver-Bluff for his preſents, (which had been left at his houſe to be carried up by ſome traders) with whom he came back; and that the Young-Twin gave him a talk, nearly in the following words, viz. "As ſoon as I was acquainted, in the woods, who the perſons were that had killed the white people, I came immediately in to acquaint my friend Galphin of it that he might write down and acquaint the two governors of it. —The fellows that have done the murders are ſeven, who have been among the Cherokees four or five years, and aſſiſted them againſt the white people.—The people are all going home, by the time this moon is gone, they will be all at home; and then we will have a meeting of all the headmen of the nation; and before the next moon is done, you ſhall hear from us.—We hope this will not make a general war, if the murderers can be killed. There are two of my own town's people concerned in it. All the headmen are much concerned about it, and hope it will be ſtrait yet. And I deſire you will be upon your guard upon this river, for they ſay, they have taken the Cherokees talk, and that they will kill the white people wherever they find them; and in caſe any of your people come up with them, we hope they will kill them. Three of our people came up with them, and would have killed them, but they were an over-match for them, upon which they went in ſearch of Abram and his gang, to help them. They dare not go to the nation for they ſay, now they muſt be killed, and they will do all the damage they can before they are. It is the talk of all the headmen in the woods, to forewarn any of the young people to join them. They ſay, it is the Young Warrior's talk at Eſtatoe's; and, if he is not conſined, he will order his people to kill them; and it is my deſire, you will write to him to have them killed, as they harbour in his nation, and have whites there.—The fellows that have done the murders, are, two Cuſſitahs, two Cowetas, two Tallaſſies, and one Oakfuſkee." ſigned "Togulki, alias Young Twin."—That notwithſtanding this talk, he (Mr. Galphin) thought it unſafe to ſend any traders into the nation, till he ſhould hear from thence; and that he had ſent a trader with a truſty Indian to the Great Buffalo-Lick, where 'twas ſaid a great body of Indians was aſſembled to diſcover what they were about or intended, and that he expected them to return about this time, when a better Judgment might be form'd of the deſigns of the nation if they have any ill ones.

Laſt thurſday Mr. JOHN LLOYD, merchant, was married to Mrs. ANNE JONES, widow of the late Mr. John Jones.

From Providence in Rhode Iſland, we have the following intelligence, dated the 17th ult. viz. That a gentleman was arrived there from Surrinam, who ſaid, advice had been received there of the arrival of ſome French tranſports with 1000 families at Cayenne, to ſettle there; and that the man of war which convoyed thoſe tranſports, on her paſſage fell in with a Dutch homeward-bound Eaſt-India ſhip, whoſe crew had mutinied, killed the captain and mate, and got the command of the veſſel, with a rich cargo; and that the Frenchman fortunately diſcovering the tragical affair, took the veſſel and carried her into Cayenne, where the rebellious crew were cloſely confined.

In conſequence of a requiſition made by Sir Jeffery Amherſt, repeated by General Gage, the general aſſembly of Pennſylvania have voted 1000 men, to be raiſed, cloathed and paid by that province, to act in concert with his majeſty's troops, in the ſpring, in offenſive operations againſt enemy Indians.—Like requiſitions have been ſent to the provinces of New-England, New-York, New-Jerſey, and Virginia.—The Pennſylvanians and Virginians to act againſt the Delawares, Shawaneſe, and other tribes that have committed hoſtilities in their provinces; and the New-Englanders, New-Yorkers and New-Jerſians, on the ſide of Lake-Erie, &c. but it does not appear that they will be wanted in that quarter, as, by accounts from Fort d'Etroit dated the 1ſt ult. the Indians under Pondiac, conſiſting of the Ottawaiwas, Chippawaws, Wyondotts, and Pontiſatamies, who had ſo long beſieged that garriſon, having loſt between 90 and 100 of their beſt warriors, in their different attacks upon the fort, veſſels, row-gallies, &c. and being almoſt diſtitute of ammunition, had applied to Col Gladwin, for PEACE; which he granted, conditionally, if the commander in chief of North-America ſhould approve thereof, and that they forthwith delivered to him all their priſoners; whereupon they immediately gave up 17 Engliſhmen, hoſtilities ceaſed, and moſt of the Indians went off for their hunting-grounds.

Pondiac, it is ſaid, has diſcovered above 40 Frenchmen (ſome of them of conſequence at Montreal) that were concerned in fomenting the late Indian war.

A detachment of about 600 men, chiefly regulars, under the command of Major Wilkins, going to fort d'Etroit, with proviſions, was on the 7th of November, at ten o'clock at night, overtaken with a violent ſtorm on Lake-Erie, within 30 leagues of d'Etroit, wherein 18 battoes foundered, by which they loſt lieutenant Davidſon of the Artillery, lieutenant Painter of the Pioneers, Mr. Williams, ſurgeon to the 80th regiment, four ſerjeants, ſixty-three private men, and a Canadian pilot, together with all their ammunition, and moſt of their proviſion.—The remainder of the detachment after this misfortune, returned to Niagara.

Part of the 55th regiment, with Hopkins's independent company, and Rogers's volunteers, ſet out from d'Etroit the 20th of November for Niagara, and arrived there the 27th, undiſturbed by any Indians.

On the 30th of October, a courier arrived at d'Etroit, from the French officer commanding at Fort Chartres on the Miſſiſippi, with a letter, to adviſe all the Indians to be at peace with their brothers the Engliſh, as they were now one people, and inviting them to remove with their families, to the weſtern banks of the Miſſiſippi, where they whole have fine hunting-grounds, and be plentifully ſupplied with goods.

A large party of Indians from about d'Etroit, went early in the fall, with beaver, &c. to purchaſe ammunition, &c. at New-Orleans, and it is thought, that their future temper and diſpoſition towards the Engliſh will be formed according to the talk they received from the French governor of that colony.

The garriſon of d'Etroit, conſiſting of 212 men, has ſupplies of every kind to laſt them till the 1ſt of July next, and the ſoldiers were hearty and well.

Two meſſengers arrived at Pittſburgh from d'Etroit, in November, with the news of the peace, or ceſſation of hoſtilities, with the Over-Lake Indians, in coming thro' the Indian towns over the Ohio, found about 70 warriors that had not recovered the wounds they received in the engagement with Col. Bouquet, when they acknowledged they loſt 50 killed.

The garriſon of Pittſburgh has lately received a plentiful ſupply of every thing, and no enemies diſturb them; but the Indians ſtill, now and then, kill ſome of the innocent ſettlers in the back parts of Pennſylvania, Maryland and New-Jerſey.

The troops to be raiſed by the provinces north of the river Delaware, are required to be cloathed in a light uniform coat and other light cloathing; to be ready to march to Albany by the firſt of March; and to join the king's troops that will be aſſembled at Niagara, early in the ſpring—if there ſhould ſtill be occaſion for them.

The Boſton papers of the 2d inſtant inform us, that the Surveyor-General there had given ſtrict orders to all officers of his majeſty's cuſtoms in the northern diſtrict of America, to be very vigilant and attentive at their reſpective ports and ſtations in executing the ſugar act, and all other acts of parliament relating to the plantation trade.

Mr. John Inderfoll is appointed weigher and keeper of the king's beam, and Mr. Samuel Treat, gauger, at the port of Boſton.

The Diligent ſloop of war, Capt. Dalrymple, is arrived at her ſtation in Virginia.

The Cygnet ſloop of war, Capt. Leſlie, is ſtationed at New-London.

His majeſty's ſloop Senegal, arrived at Halifax the firſt of laſt month, carried in there a ſloop from Liſbon, bound for Plymouth in New-England, laden with ſalt, wine, and lemons.

The Rev. Mr. Whitefield arrived at New-York the 28th of November from Philadelphia. The firſt week in January he was expected at Rhode Iſland, on his way to Boſton. 'Tis as yet uncertain, when he may be expected here.

Extract of a letter from Madera, October 17, 1763.

"In the night between the 12th and 13th inſtant, the wind being ſoutherly, was drove aſhore upon the rocks here, the ſhip Robert & Betty, Capt. Thomas Cortiman, bound from Liverpoole to South-Carolina, with about 240 paſſengers on board, men, women, and children, who propoſed to ſettle upon the frontiers of that province; there were only 26 people ſaved in all. A melancholy inſtance this of the bad conſequences of truſting a veſſel with an improper commander. The captain was a worthleſs drunken fellow, and during two days he was here, before the accident happened, never moored his veſſel, but lay at a ſingle anchor; and without parting his cables, ſhe fairly drove in, and was upon the rocks to the eaſtward of the Bay, before they let go a ſecond anchor; for tho' our road was full of ſhipping, no veſſel that was properly moored, ſo much as drove, excepting a ſmall ſloop from North-Carolina, with lumber, the Ranger, Solomon Spanton, who ſtarted an old rotten cable of only fifty fathom long, and driving foul of another veſſel, was cut adrift and came aſhore alſo, but all the people were ſaved."

Extract of a letter from Philadelphia, Dec. 30.

"——— About a month ago, there was an appearance, as if every thing would ſoon be quiet again, and ſettled upon a good footing with the Indians; but ſuch an affair has ſince happened, as, is to be feared, will be attended with moſt terrible conſequences. A number of lawleſs back inhabitants, who never had reſolution enough to face enemy Indians, at laſt aſſumed courage, to come down, in number about 200, into the very heart of the country, and, in cool blood, moſt barbarouſly butcher all the friendly ones under the immediate protection of the government: Their firſt operation was againſt a ſmall Indian town only 7 miles from Lancaſter, which they burnt to the ground, on the 14th inſtant, killing and ſcalping every man, woman and child they found in or about it: not ſatisfied with this, and hearing that 14 Indians who were abſent from the town when it was burnt, had fled to Lancaſter, and were lodged in the jail, the rioters (augmented to 500) went thither alſo, broke open the jail, took out and carried off all the Indians there, and killed and ſcalp'd every one of them; they likewiſe committed other outrages: and now they threaten to come down in a body to Province-Iſland, about 7 miles down the river from this city, to maſſacre about 100 more friendly Indians that have been placed there by the government. Theſe worſe than ſavages being arm'd, deſperate, and encreaſing, there's no knowing where their exceſſes will end. Rewards are offered for apprehending ſome of the rioters, but 'tis feared none will be taken.—Our river has been full of ice theſe eight days, but is now open again. ———"

Extract of a letter from Mobile, dated Nov. 12, 1763.

"——— I arrived at Penſacola the very day that the Spaniſh troops and inhabitants quitted it, the 3d of September; there might be 1000 of them; the troops went for Mexico, and the miſerable inhabitants (rather ſlaves) for Havana. Col. Prevoſt, of the 3d battalion of Royal-Americans, with about 300 men, has taken poſſeſſion of the place the day before. The bay is an excellent one, would contain all the navy of England, and there is never leſs than four fathom water at the entrance. In time of peace a very beneficial trade may be carried on here; and in war, if the Spaniards ever break with us again, the trade of Mexico will be ſubject to great annoyance. The land along the coaſt is generally low, ſandy, dry and barren. At the entrance of the harbour, upon St. Roſa Iſland, the Spaniards had a ſmall fort, of no ſort of uſe; but the flag ſtaff there is a good land-mark for ſtrangers, being the firſt thing they ſee. The town is ſituated on a dry ſandy beach about three leagues from the ſea, ſtockaded, in the form of a ſquare, with baſtions at the angles, and compoſed of miſerable houſes or rather huts, having much the appearance of a Carolina plantation, the governor's reſembling an overſeer's houſe and the reſt negro huts. By land from Penſacola to Mobile, is two days journey, but the road bad, there being a wide river and ſeveral creeks to croſs: By water the diſtance is about 27 leagues, viz. from the town to the ſea 3, from that to the point of Mobile 14, and from thence to the town 10. The coaſt from Cape St. Blaize, is low, barren and ſandy; and a good way back the land only fit for ſtock. The entrance to Mobile is extremely dangerous, and the navigation up the river none of the beſt, occaſioned by the extreme width of the mouth and the number of mud and other banks formed by the great freſhes, which at ſome ſeaſons come down with great impetuoſity. On the bar, there is never more than 12 and an half or 13 feet water. Capt Balmer of his majeſty's ſhip Stag, ſounded it ſix days ſucceſſively and found that, and brought up three tranſports within two leagues of the town. The French never found more than 10 feet; but the channels are very difficult to find. This town conſiſts of only a few ſtraggling houſes, moſtly ſtockaded for fear of the Indians, ſome of them of brick, but has a very good regular built brick fort with a ditch, covered way and glacis, which the French called Conde, whereon they had mounted 38 pieces of cannon. Major Fermor took poſſeſſion of this place the 20th of October with about 500 men, but the garriſon is to conſiſt of 1000, from which detachments will be ſent to Tombigbé, Fort Thouloſe and the Illinois. The cannon that were mounted here are to be ſent to New-Orleans, and in part replaced from our ſhips. The 6th inſtant, a lieutenant with 35 men was ſent off, to Tombigbé Fort in the Chactah nation, about 200 miles diſtant. In a few weeks, Capt. James Campbell with 100 more, will go to Fort Thouloufe (commonly called the Alibamous); the time is not fixed, becauſe the Creek Indians do not ſeem in a very good-humour: And in the ſpring, Major Loftus with 300 men, is to go to the Illinois on the Miſſiſippi, a very fine ſettlement, where are about 500 French who annually come down to New-Orleans with their goods, and there ſupply themſelves with neceſſaries for the year. Col. Robertſon goes in a few days to New-Orleans, to purchaſe boats for conveying the laſt body of troops to their ſtation; the French ſay they will be upwards of three months on their paſſage, and go through many tribes of Indians that are ſettled on the banks of the river which will make it very dangerous. No place in the univerſe can be better ſituated for the Indian trade than this is, as there is water carriage into the heart of the Creek, Chicaſaw, Chactah nations, which laſt is more numerous than we imagine. There may be about 120 Frenchmen in this colony and 500 negroes, the greateſt of which I believe will leave it. The land in general near the ſea is bad. Stock and Indian corn is all the inhabitants uſed to raiſe: There may be about 12000 head of cattle, and a few ſheep in it; but, if proper encouragement was given, the land would produce ſilk, cotton, olives, coffee, and vines in abundance. In my life I never ſaw ſo much game and fiſh as is here; any man may maintain himſelf and family with his gun. From this to New-Orleans the diſtance is about 90 leagues, viz. 60 Iſle Dauphin (the entrance of the harbour) 10; thence to the mouth of the Miſſiſippi 25, and from thence to Orleans 35; there is alſo an inland paſſage thro' the Lakes, for ſmall craft; but no road by land. The trade of Penſacola and Mobile hitherto, is not worth mentioning. An Engliſh military government is by no means liked here, either by French or Engliſh. The Wolf King was here ſome days ago, pretended to be glad his brothers the Engliſh were now ſo near him, and ſaid he ſhould no more go to Carolina or Georgia; he came begging, and got pretty well both here and at Penſacola. Monſieur d'Abadie, governor of New-Orleans is now here, on the following preſents, which have been three years due, to the Chactahs of whom there are upwards of 2000 here and more expected: the whole nation was invited, but only the French party are come, to whom he gave a very good talk, and he really does take pains to reconcile them to the Engliſh, which I hope will have good effects, tho' at preſent the Indians think it very ſtrange, to ſee the Engliſh and French, ſo lately at enmity, now in ſo cloſe friendſhip. I ſhall conclude this letter with what I heard one of them ſay, viz. "The Engliſh are ſtrangers to us; the French we know; in all their former talks, they encouraged and hired us to kill and ſcalp the Engliſh and their Indian friends: Now they entreat us to take the Engliſh by the hand, and themſelves mix promiſcuouſly with them. It is mighty ſtrange, but it looks as if the time is coming when we ſhould be made ſlaves, as the French told us would be the caſe, whenever we ſuffered the Engliſh to come upon this land." ———

The ſchooner Dublin, Richard Savery maſter, from this port for Penſacola, was loſt the 5th of September laſt, on the Bahama bank. Part of the crew and paſſengers, after living three months upon raw cormorants, wilks, conchs, rats, and palmeta cabbages on unfrequented keys, were, thro' the mercy of God, taken up by a fiſhing-boat, and carried to Providence.

The Mercury man of war, commanded by Capt. Goodall ſails for England next week.

The number of ſea veſſels in this port, being reckoned to day, amount to 106 ſail, viz. 25 ſhips, 12 Snows, 26 brigantines, 1 Xebeck, 9 Schooners, 30 Sloops, and 3 Men of War.

Rates at Market

Charles-Town, January 2, 1764.

THOMAS GODFREY,

Having enter'd into Co-partnership with Mr. THOMAS GADSDEN, commencing the first instant;

BEGS leave to take this method of returning thanks to his friends and customers, for their favours to him, and hopes for a continuance thereof to GODFREY & GADSDEN, who now carry on the business: He will be further obliged to them, to discharge or settle their accompts previous thereto, as soon as possible.

Charles-Town, January 2d, 1764.

THE Co-partnership of DOWNES and NICHOLSON being expired near three years, and a few accompts still remaining unpaid, JOSEPH NICHOLSON's circumstances and situation cannot suffer them to remain so any longer; therefore he desires all concerned to take notice, that in a very few weeks longer, every book accompt, notes and bonds, will be put in the hands of an Attorney.

AS there are several Accompts open in the Books of LISTON & BENFIELD, as well as bonds and notes which have been a long time due. This is to give notice, that they will (if not discharged before the first of February next) be put into an attorney's hands.

Charles-Town, January 7th, 1764.

THE Co-partnership of NICHOLSON & BAMPFIELD being expired the 1st current, and JOSEPH NICHOLSON being determin'd to leave the province by the first of April, he acquaints all those indebted to that company (except a few who lately, by agreement, bought goods payable next spring) that they must pay their debts of what kind soever, to him or Mr. BAMPFIELD, in two months from this date:

And, as advertisements of this sort, often repeated, seldom have any good effect, he gives notice, that this shall remain only six weeks in the papers, that their accompts shall be all ready in three weeks, and that they may have no excuse, good rice, and any kind of indico will be taken in payment: all who have accompts against them, are desired to send them in.

As our former Advertisement has had no other effect, than bringing those to whom we are indebted to call for payment:

WE do therefore, for the last time, give this public notice, to all who are indebted to us, by bond, note, or accompt, that unless they discharge the same before the first of March next, they will be put into the hands of an attorney. LISTON, BENFIELD, & JONES.

THE Co-partnership of NICHOLSON & BAMPFIELD being expired, they take this opportunity of returning thanks to all their friends, for their favours, and hope for a continuance of them to WILLIAM BAMPFIELD, who has purchased the remaining stock of GOODS belonging to the company, the greatest part whereof are lately imported; which he will continue to sell at a low advance, in order to clear his store, for a well assorted cargo he expects next fall.

To be Sold by the subscribers, administrators on the estates of the Rev. Mr. John James Tissot, and Mary his wife, the following tracts of land, viz.

ONE tract of 100 acres on Lynch's-creek, in St. Thomas's parish, whereon is a new dwelling-house almost finished, and another convenient new building, the land is good for corn or indico.

Two contiguous tracts on Broad-river, one of which contains 200, and the other 100 acres, joining lands laid out to Frederick Monk, and is supposed to be as good as any in the province, and may be sold together or separate.

Also, one other tract in Amelia-Township, first laid out for John Lewis Poyas, containing 100 acres, contiguous to the lands of William Thomson, the whole of which is proper for grain, indico or hemp.
